

Classroom Resources

The Classroom Resources are compiled from the Resources for Developing and Teaching Topic sections on the topic pages. These materials are intended to assist instructors in locating and preparing classroom materials for the themes and topics developed in the curriculum guidelines. Some materials may not be appropriate for a specific LINC level, but are included either as resources for instructors or as materials that can be adapted for learners at specific levels.

This list contains the following categories of materials:

-  Assessment and Evaluation
-  Books
-  Brochures and Pamphlets
-  CALL Resources
-  ESL Software
-  ESL Theory
-  Listening Resources
-  Pronunciation Resources
-  Videos

Resources are arranged alphabetically by title. Some of the resources listed may no longer be in print, but are often still available at LINC centres and public libraries. Web site addresses were active at the time these guidelines were printed. However, URLs often change and web searches may be required to locate them again.

Other sources of information and resources:

1. Centre AlphaPlus Centre 2040 Yonge Street, 3rd Floor, Toronto, ON M4S 1Z9
1-800-788-1120; <http://www.alphaplus.ca>
Services provided are:
  - books, audio tapes, videotapes, educational software (CD-ROMs), and periodicals
  - mini-collections that can be sent to remote, isolated, and underserved communities in Ontario
  - a database of information about programs and organizations involved in adult literacy and immigrant language training in Ontario
  - short bibliographies on selected topics called Quick-Lists
  - an index to web resources
2. Settlement.org: <http://www.settlement.org>
Information useful for settlement workers, immigrants, and refugees about starting a new life in Ontario:
  - general introductions to topics of concern to newcomers and settlement workers
  - on-line documents (e.g., LINC documents, Citizenship and Immigration publications)
  - a database of organizations and contact information
